European Union*Project description:

The project aims to streamline the integration process of forcibly displaced Armenians from Nagorno Karabakh, with a particular focus on children, youth and their families, into Armenian society. To achieve this goal, the action targets the delivery of high-quality non-formal education and psychosocial support, aimed at empowering displaced youth and families while nurturing resilience and encouraging their involvement in host communities. The project is targeted towards the comprehensive integration of refugees from Nagorno Karabakh into the regions of Armavir and Lori.

Key anticipated outcomes include improved educational performance, strengthened psychological and emotional well-being and the cultivation of long-term resilience and societal engagement. COAF will promptly involve displaced children in its existing centers, such as the Child and Family Centers (CFC) in Hatsik and Karakert in Armavir and COAF SMART Center in Lori, providing essential psychosocial counseling and engaging in community outreach activities. These efforts are designed to bridge educational disparities, address trauma and foster social cohesion, laying a solid groundwork for the successful integration of displaced youth into Armenian society.

Expected results:

By its completion the project is expected to achieve the following results:

1. 300 children aged 3-18 and their parents, approximately 150 people, enrolled in early childhood and learning enhancement programs providing early childhood education to 3-6 and learning enhancement opportunities to 6-18 year-old children and their parents with integrated trauma-informed techniques.
2. 250 refugee children, youth and their family members show improved emotional well-being ensuring their access to psychosocial services in Armavir and Lori through CFCs, SMART Center and mobile teams.
3. 4,000 displaced and host peers engaged in various initiatives in Armavir schools and COAF SMART Center in Lori by facilitating social cohesion initiatives in 5 communities in Armavir and in COAF SMART Center to foster integration of displaced children.
